

QUEER ANGLE

Of the Jackson-McClellan Fight Comes Up.

IT IS SENSATIONAL.

Mayor McClellan Will Ask that the Attorney General be Imprisoned for Contempt of Court.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Mayor McClellan, of New York, in papers served on Attorney General Jackson Thursday gives notice of a motion to be made at a special term of the supreme court on January 26, in this city, at which he will ask that an order be issued punishing the attorney general for contempt of court.

The mayor asks that the attorney general be imprisoned for his action until quo warranto proceedings which he has begun on behalf of the people of the state to test McClellan's title to his office as mayor, be withdrawn and discontinued.

Mayor McClellan in his affidavit contends that the attorney general should be adjudged in contempt for violating a temporary writ of prohibition restraining him from holding a hearing on an application of counsel for William R. Hearst, that he give his consent to the commencement of such action. He cites the fact that the attorney general began the second action while the writ was in effect.

The papers were served late in the day and the attorney general was not prepared last night to make any answer.

Mother and Son Drowned.

Pittsburg, Jan. 18.—Mrs. Jacob Blakey and her son Samuel, 2 years old, were drowned and her husband and another son, William, 10 years old, narrowly escaped a similar death last night while attempting to ford East Pike run in Washington county, near here. The four members of the family were returning to their home in a buggy. The creek at the usual fording place had swollen until it was 600 feet wide. Blakey decided it was safe and drove in. When 20 feet from the shore the buggy was upset and the occupants were hurled into the water. Blakey managed to swim to the shore with his elder son.

More Stories of Brutality are Told.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—Sensational corroboration of stories told of the mis conduct of attendants in the insane asylum was given Thursday by At tendant John Frazier. Frazier, before the asylum trustees, told stories of brutality on the part of Attendant John Garrett and other attendants. Frazier showed how Garrett roughly slammed patients into their chairs, he physical illustration on Trustee Kelley. He said he had seen bruises on the head of Patient Lee Wakeman, after an altercation with Attendant Skinner. He complained, he said about Garrett's withholding of Christ mas presents from patients. He said Garrett administered a dangerous sleeping potion to a patient without authority. He admitted that attend ants drank whisky in the wards.

Found Filthy Conditions in Bakeshops.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—Conditions rivaling in miniature those disclosed by the recent Packingtown investigation in Chicago, have been brought to light by Patrolman Connor, of the health department, now engaged in a searching probe into the bakeshops of Cleveland. As a result of his work Andrew Castiglione, an Italian baker, was arrested Thursday, charged with violation of the health ordinance. Many more arrests will follow. Chickens and ducks with all the re sulting filth, were found scratching around the bakeshop floor at one place, perching on the benches where the dough is mixed.

Where Ohio Leads.

Columbus, O., Jan. 18.—There was a spirited contest Thursday over the election of members of the state board of agriculture. A. P. Sandies, of Put nam county, and C. H. Ganson, of Champaign county, were re-elected to serve five years; L. W. Kilgore, of Madison, was elected for three years and P. G. Ewart, of Summit, for one year. Ohio leads the states of the Union in the attention given to farm ers and their interests, according to Gov. Harris, who addressed the meet ing of the state board of agriculture and Farmers' associations.

Killed Wife, Daughter and Himself.

Barton, O., Jan. 18.—After a week of quarreling over an estate left him by relatives in Hungary, Alex. Ballanec, a miner, hacked his wife and 16-year-old daughter Pearl to pieces with a big butcher knife Thursday and then killed himself with a shotgun. The daughter had just returned from a convent in Columbus. When Ballanec inherited several thousand dollars the wife set up a demand for a share of the fortune in her own name. Fellow workmen say her nagging delirious Ballanec's mind.

Must Refund Money to a County.

Cleveland, Jan. 18.—The Van Dorn Iron Works Co. was ordered by the court Thursday to repay $150 to the treasurer of Putnam county, money that it had been paid by the Ohio bridge trust to keep it from underbidding for two bridge contracts. The action begun here was one of a dozen filed by Attorney General Ellis to oust the corporations from their corporate franchises because of a combination in restraint of competi tion.

FORAKER ORATES.

He Delivers Another Long Speech on the Brownsville Affair.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The legal phase of President Roosevelt's dis charge of the negro troops was again injected into the controversy in the senate Thursday by notice of an amendment to the Foraker compromise resolution which Senator Black burn said he would press. Senator Foraker at once declared his opposition to the amendment. He discussed the power of the executive, holding that the affair at Brownsville ought to be investigated simply as to the facts, and the question of power de termined later if it should arise as the result of the inquiry. He reviewed his previous utterances, maintain ing the same position in every respect.

He replied to arguments which have been made since his first speeches, especially those of Senators Spooner and Knox. He defended the Twenty-fifth infantry, reviewing the "esca pades" it is charged with, expressing his astonishment that the record fur nished by the war department in this particular was not complete, and stat ing that in response to his request it had been supplemented by informa tion which was decidedly favorable to the regiment. Consideration of the resolution was then deferred until Monday. Eulogies on the late Sen ator Bate, of Tennessee, were deliv ered, after which the senate adjourned as a mark of respect to his memory.

Two People Asphyxiated.

Pottsville, O., Jan. 18.—Louis Shuman went to the home of John Kraus Thursday morning to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. Kraus, who had been ill. He found the kitchen door open, and on entering found his father-in-law, Clement Leidy, 52, sitting by the stove, fully dressed, dead, and his 17-year-old son, Leo, on the floor of the bedroom, dead, and Mrs. Kraus nearly dead in bed. They had been asphyxi ated by natural gas which escaped from the stove.

Bullets for Three.

Boston, Jan. 18.—Lewis Pennis, 38 years of age, shot his wife and 3-year-old daughter at their home in the West End Thursday and then tried to commit suicide. Pennis and his wife probably will die. The child was not seriously wounded. Pennis, who has been working in New York for the past three years, returned here yester day and went immediately to his wife's apartments, where the couple quarreled.

From Chicken-Pox To Cholera

Cure Alls No Longer Tolerated.

In early days every barber shop was an operating room and the town physician resorted to bleeding as the sure cure for all ailments from chick en pox to cholera. As a result, many including our first President, died prematurely.

The present low rate of mortality is due in large measure to the ad vances made in medical science and the knowledge of the specific treat ment needed for each disease known.

There is no disease more common among American and English people than dyspepsia. So prevalent has it become that thousands suffer with it half unconsciously, consider the symptoms as natural to their physical constitution and resign themselves to living on in that condition.

There is a remedy for dyspepsia, and only one, recommended and en dorsed generally by physicians: Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have stood the test of years of use by millions of sufferers, have been subjected to governmental analyses in Europe and America and alone have been found to contain the elements which Nature has put into the stomach for di gestion—pepsin, diastase and other ferments.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets relieve the stomach and bowels in a perfect ly natural way by helping them do their work. If the stomach is weak in gastric juice, Stuart's Tablets make up the deficiency. If the muscles are inactive, Stuart's Tablets invigorate them. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets di gest every form of food entering the stomach, one grain of the active principle of these Tablets being cap able of digesting 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and other foods. They are not cathartic pills; their action is simply that of a digestive.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure nothing but dyspepsia, waterbrash, sour stomach and kindred ailments resulting from the imperfect digestion of food, but these diseases they pos itively cure.

We will gladly send you a trial package to prove the truth of our claims. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be gotten of all druggists at 50 cents. F. A. Stuart Co., 69 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Her Literary Likes.

They had just met; conversation was somewhat stilted. Finally he decided to guide it into literary channels, where he was more at home, and, turning to his companion, asked, "Are you fond of literature?"

"Passionately," she replied. "I love books dearly."

"Then you must admire Sir Walter Scott," he exclaimed with sudden animation. "Is not his 'Lady of the Lake' exquisite in its flowing grace and poetic imagery? Is it not—" "It is perfectly lovely," she assented, clasping her hands in ecstasy. "I suppose I have read it a dozen times."

"And Scott's 'Marmion,'" he continued, "with its rugged simplicity and Scottish characters and his graphic foretelling of feudal times and customs?" "I just dote on them," she replied.

"And Scott's 'Emulsion,'" he continued, a faint suspicion beginning to dawn upon him. "I think," she interrupted rashly. "that it is the best thing he ever wrote."—Montreal Herald.

The Paper Dollar Habit.

The paper dollar habit is making way slowly in the west. For years there were hardly any $1 bills in cir culation west of the Mississippi. It was all silver dollars out here, and the paper dollars were circulated "back east." Now the paper dollars are taking the place of the silver dollars out here. And the people like the change.

"Can't you give me paper?" is a question the cashier of a cafe says he hears many times a day. "And I can," he continued, "because so many persons offer paper money in paying their bills. Why, I take in enough during the week to paper a flat. I carry an armful to the bank every day. Persons like paper money be cause it is easy to carry and doesn't wear holes through pockets."

The Heart Was Secure.

Not long ago a fond and rather romantically inclined father was ap proached by a young man, whose in tention was to ask the parent's con sent to the marriage of himself and the other's daughter.

After considerable stammering and confusion, the older man grasped the other's meaning and beamed benevo lently upon him. He rose and placed one hand upon the youth's shoulder in a kindly way.

"So, so. Yes, after all, I guess my little girl is grown up, and must have a mate," he said. "Tell me frankly, young man, is it her heart or her money that you are after?"

The young fellow blushed painfully, but with a thrill of pride, threw out his chest and answered, "I already have her heart in my keeping, sir!"

DRESS THAT COST $40,000.

Three Hundred Mexican Women Made the Wonderful Garment.

After nine years of most painstaking toil, Senora E. Leon of Aguas Calientes, living in the City of Mexico, has completed a dress which is valued at the sum of $40,000 gold, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. She was assisted in this arduous toll by 300 expert needlewomen, all of whom were well paid.

The dress was first intended for the Mexican exhibit at the Paris expo sition. As it was at that time incom plete it was decided to display it at the St. Louis world's fair, but the close of this exposition still saw the work unfinished.

Aguas Calientes is famous for its drawn-work and needlework, and its embroidery artists, but this dress ex cels anything ever attempted or com pleted in that city. The dress is an exquisite and wonderful example of woman's skill, patience and artistic conception.

It consists of a full trained skirt, Eton jacket and bertha, and is made of the sheerest linen, the thread for which was imported from Paris and bore the number 600, the finest manu factured. The design, which was origi nated by Senora Leon, is a mar vel. There are no visible seams in the entire garment, which is drawn in wheels in such a way that the origi nal fabric is changed into a filmy, web-like lace.

The dress will be put on exhibitor in the City of Mexico and offered for sale. No price under $40,000 gold will be considered. During the winter, when the city is filled with American millionaires, it is not thought that finding a purchaser will be difficult.

FOLDING SHEEP BY HAND.

Herder Was Doing His Best to Obey Boss's Instructions.

Ab Wade, a well known character of Ashland, Mass., was in his early days a farmer's boy. One day the farmer, a large cattle owner, said:

"Abner, after yer chores is done you jest put th' sheep in fold."

"Yes, sir," replied Ab, in his soprano drawl. Toward sundown the farmer going around to see that everything was secure, heard the plaintive bleat ing of a lamb. He located the sound and ran across Ab with a ewe across his knee, doing his best to break it in two.

"Confound yer!" roared the farmer "what yer doin'?"

Ab dropped the bleating lamb and staggered a few feet away from his mate master.

"Well, sir," said 't put 'em sheep in fold, an' I was doin' my best with out a foldin' machine."

With Congo Gold.

Where does it go, this blood-stained Congo gold? Into the fairy palaces, the wonderful gardens of enchantment in which this grim old, gray king de lights. Into the collections of rare and priceless trees and shrubs and flowers that have made his conserva tories at Laeken famous throughout Europe. Into the white hands of the women who, each for her brief hour have ruled the Congo's lord—the queens of the Congo, whose jewels are bought with human lives. Into the far-reaching schemes of aggrandize ment which a most marvelous combi nation of wiliness, political sagacity, and selfish ambition can devise, an limitless wealth and a diabolic ability in choosing the proper tools can ex ecute. And, lastly, into the huge ma chine—his gigantic press bureau, which is all that maintains Leopold's good name before the world; a ma chine grinding tirelessly, night and day, that its owner may pose as the philanthropist, and not be exposed as the vampire.—Robert Park, in Every body's.

In Old Egypt.

The camel express had come and gone and still Mark Anthony had not arrived.

"Four long months since he was here," sobbed Cleopatra, "and he promised to return in a few weeks. I wonder if anything has happened to him. Can it be possible?"

"Can what be possible, your ma jesty?" asked one of the court ladies. The great queen turned deathly pale.

"Can—can it be possible that he smoked some of those Egyptian cigare ttes he bought at the pyramids? If so, his doom is sealed."

Calling the swiftest Egyptian run ner she dispatched him to Rome to find out the truth.

Awakening Him.

The honeymoon was over and the cupboard was bare.

"Don't worry, darling," said the ro mantic husband, as he opened the piano; "remember, music is the food of love."

The practical little wife shook her head.

"But if you really think music is the food of love," she responded, "per haps you can step around and get the butcher to give you a beefsteak for a mere song."

Then the long-haired genius woke up.
